

EXCITEMENT AT CLEMSON

Junior and Freshmen Classes
Threaten to Leave Unless Sophomores Reinstated.

(By Associated Press.)
CHARLESTON, S. C., April 30.—There is still great excitement at Clemson College, due to the rebellion of the entire sophomore class and their leaving the college yesterday. The junior and freshmen classes met last night and resolved to leave the college this morning in a body unless the trustees called for a meeting of the trustees and had the entire sophomore class, including Cadet Thornehill, reinstated.

The faculty got wind of what was going on and asked Colonel W. R. Simpson, president of the trustees, to talk with the students. He persuaded the refractory students to defer action until the trustees held a meeting, which is appointed for early in the morning.

The outbreak at Clemson is due to charges made against certain members of the faculty by the student body.

YOUR BLOOD IN MAY MUST PRODUCE TRUE VITALITY OR DISEASE.

Paine's Celery Compound

Expels All Winter Impurities and Poisons from the Blood and Builds Up the Entire System.

An Astonishing Proof of Blood Cleansing and Restoration to Complete Health.

True health can only be maintained by keeping the body free of acid and sluggish blood and morbid waste matters. The blood that is pumped through the heart to all parts of the body carries nourishment and health, or poison and the seeds of death.

Close confinement in badly ventilated offices, stores and workshops during the winter months has lowered the vitality of tens of thousands. Poisons and impurities have been implanted in the blood; these agents of death must be expelled if health would be maintained during the coming summer.

The month of May should be renovating and building up time with the vast army of weak, debilitated and broken down men, women and young people.

If the work of purifying and vitalizing the blood be longer deferred, eruptions, blotches, sores, eczema, scrofula, erysipelas and other dangers are sure to be your portion.

Paine's Celery Compound meets successfully at this season all unhealthy conditions of the blood. It is the only medicine that can guarantee perfect purification of the vital fluid; that can give true nourishment to the nerves and tissues; that can bestow new life, vigor and strength for the enjoyment of summer and the prosecution of life's duties.

Mr. George Schmidt, No. 20 West Third Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, briefly and forcibly writes regarding his rescue from a slow but sure death:

"Since infancy I have been bothered with impure blood and nervousness. I tried almost all known remedies and went to many physicians, but nothing seemed to do me any good until a druggist recommended Paine's Celery Compound. I used the great medicine and before I had finished two bottles, I found relief. I am now using my sixth bottle and never felt better in my life. My nervousness is all gone and my skin clearer than ever it was."

AN ELECTRIC PLANT OWNED BY THE CITY

So far from retiring from the gas manufacturing business, members of the Council are seriously considering the advisability of the city's entering the field as a producer of electric power, and this not only for the streets and the city's buildings, but for sale by the city to individual consumers.

ANOTHER COINCIDENCE.
The coincidence found in the fact that the city's law-makers are considering this matter at the very time that the sale of one of the electric power companies to the other puts the whole business in the hands of one company, is very interesting.

The city has for a long period purchased electrical power from the Passenger and Power Company and its predecessor, the Richmond Railway and Electric Company. The arrangements, especially during the last five years when there has been a rival company in the field, Councilmen think has been a success. The contract has been let for one year at a time, and the company has owned all lines, poles, lamps and apparatus necessary to furnish the light in the streets. As the company has never known from year to year but that at the end of the year the contract would go to the other company, thus extensive and expensive plant in the streets altogether valueless on its hands, its bid from year to year having necessarily been made in the light of this contingency.

These same facts have hitherto kept from the city the possibility of a second electric power company from being competition in any real sense. The bids have been let for a year only and the new company in bidding would necessarily have had to have added the cost of an extensive plant in the streets. This added to the cost has been a heavy burden. The city of electric power beyond that of a company having these lines and equipment fully installed.

CONTRACT TO BE LET.
The Light Committee meets this afternoon to award a new contract for street electric lighting. As the city, if it enters into this scheme, could not be in a position to supply its own electrical power in less than twelve months or more at the earliest, the committee will, of course, let a contract to the city.

It is possible that a two-year contract may be proposed as more advantageous to the city. In view of the discussion of the city's entering the field as a producer of electric power, it is believed that the company will name a very reasonable figure.

Those who have been considering this matter, say that the city's allies should be lighted much better than at present. Richmond is said to be peculiarly in a bad way in this matter. The alleys of Northern cities are lighted up in much better style. The long alleys, which run the length of the city, are now nearly or almost altogether unlighted.

As a police protection measure this feature is believed to have large value.

The lighting of the city's buildings can be done more economically by the city than by the contractor. The City Hall is now lighted by gas with a yearly contract to a company using a special burner. The yearly contract bid includes the cost of the burners all over the city.

While it is not contemplated that at any time in the near future the city should become the sole producer of electrical power for lighting purposes in the city, as it is of gas, yet the field of competing companies in the field of advantages of the city's selling electrical power to individual purchasers practically at cost, and thus controlling the market prices, are believed to be very great.

GAS SHOULD BE CHEAPER.

City Could Own Works and Reduce the Price.

"I think the gas works should not be sold by the city, but that the price of gas should be reduced to a prominent member of the City Council at Murphy's last night. 'The receipts of the gas works for the past year were $22,237.93, and the operating expenses were $134,042.61, leaving a net revenue to the city of $83,307.13. If Richmond had sold gas to its customers at 77 cents per 1,000 feet instead of 81 cents, it would still have cleared $2,744.73 profits. If the city had sold gas at 60 cents it would have lost only between $500 and $1,000.'"

Ambulance Calls.

At The Theatres.

"A Social Highwayman" is a remarkable play, and when one considers that it was dramatized by a woman from a novel written by another woman the case becomes still more complicated. Not that a woman cannot write a good play. That foolish idea was exploded long ago. But this play presented by the Giffen Company last night is one that would naturally be attributed to a man if the production had been anonymous. And if it is anything, it would be that a woman can portray men better than a man, and vice versa. At any rate, there is only one woman of any consequence in this play, and she is very convincing. It is true that there is one bit that affords splendid opportunities for acting, but the character itself is not a striking one. Of the men two stand out in bold relief. And, as it happens, the servant, the valet, is a far more important character than the master. Charles W. King made a profound impression as Jenkins Hanby. From the intellectual bank president was an accomplished actor in his own right. He then became the shrewd, tricky, unscrupulous valet and "professional" thief, with no good impulse but his love for his benefactor and master, is a most praiseworthy achievement. And this is the best of the play. The great bill of headlines at the Bijou is attracting large audiences to that popular play-house. Commencing to-day the bill will be changed in many respects. George Fuller Golden will introduce a new lot of stories, Montgomery and Stone will offer some new ones, and other changes will be made that will make the entertainment seem like a new one. There will be a matinee to-day.

The strongest and best vaudeville bill the Bijou has ever presented to its patrons at the Bijou is drawing immense crowds this week. From George Fuller Golden, chief of the White Rats, to the stereopticon views, there is not a number that should be changed. It is a thoroughly delightful, clean and wholesome bill that never fails to amuse and entertain.

The Giffen Company will make a splendid production of Hall Caine's "The Christian next week. The entire investment of this piece will be extremely lavish.

His downfall is attributed to bad company.

OBITUARY.

Captain Ramon Garcin.

Captain Ramon Garcin died yesterday afternoon at the residence of his son, Dr. R. D. Garcin, No. 218 East Broad Street, after an illness of several months. He was seventy years of age, and until recently was a man actively engaged in business. His career was a remarkable one in many respects. He was born in Andalusia, Spain, where he lived until his twenty-seventh year, when he landed in Cuba. Here he first distinguished himself as a soldier, and for bravery was knighted by the King of Spain. Leaving Cuba he came to America, where he spent a few years in the Philippines. He came to Richmond in 1858, and with the exception of four years' service in the Confederate Army had made the capital of Virginia his home.

When the civil war broke out he was a wealthy man, and not only volunteered to defend in the rifle pits the country of his adoption, but gave of his fortune, and at the time of his death treasured among his belongings a Confederate note amounting to $50,000. Since the war and until about two years ago, when he retired on account of declining health, he was connected with the Richmond Gem Soap Factory.

Captain Garcin was a member of Grace Street Baptist Church, but recently had withdrawn with a view of identifying himself with a church nearer his home on Church Hill. He was survived by his widow, who was Miss Margaret Thomas of Philadelphia, and three sons—Mr. E. H. Garcin, vice-president and general manager of the Trenton Rubber Company, of Trenton, N. J.; Dr. Ramon D. Garcin and Mr. E. Lee Garcin, of this city. For twelve years past Captain and Mrs. Garcin had made their home with Dr. Garcin, on Church Hill.

The funeral arrangements have not been decided upon, as it was not known at just what time Mr. Garcin, of Trenton, who has been advised of his father's death, will arrive.
